

Muzammil Ahmed

Associate

Muzammil Ahmed is an Associate in our Corporate & Commercial practice.

About Muzammil

Muzammil joined CDH in 2021 where he worked in the firm's Dispute Resolution, Employment and Labour, Corporate and Commercial and Real Estate practice areas. He was exposed to general and labour litigation, conveyancing, various real estate matter and various commercial transactions. Muzammil currently assists with mergers and acquisitions and drafting and reviewing various commercial agreements.

He was retained in the firm's Corporate and Commercial practice area as an Associate in January 2023.

Credentials

Education

- BA Law (International Relations and Law Majors), University of the Witwatersrand
- LLB, University of the Witwatersrand

Experience

• Drafting various agreement

Drafting various agreements, including sale of business agreements, sale of share agreements, shareholders' agreements, memorandum of incorporations, residential lease agreements and sale of property agreements.

• Due diligence

Assisting in due diligence investigations and preparing due diligence reports.

• Company secretarial work

Assisting with general company secretarial work, including drafting various resolutions.

News

Contact Muzammil

+27 (0)11 562 1838

muzammil.ahmed@cdhlegal.com

Muzammil on LinkedIn

Expertise

Corporate & Commercial Law

Location

Johannesburg

Language

English

Ratchets: The most important anti-dilution tool in your investment toolbox

Venture capital and private equity investors' strategy is to find companies, invest early and grow their investments as the investee company grows. However, this investment strategy is risky, because new, untested companies often struggle as they venture into the unknown. This frequently results in these companies raising additional funding down the line. One way for investors to protect their investment is through "anti-dilution" provisions, which aim to prevent investors from excessive dilution in future funding rounds and particularly in instances where fresh shares are issued at a lower price than the subscription price paid by existing investors, commonly known as a 'down round'.

Unlocking stalemates: Solutions for shareholder deadlocks

Imagine this – the future of your company hangs in the balance, but the room is split down the middle. Critical decisions are stalled, tempers are flaring, and progress has ground to a halt. Welcome to the frustrating world of corporate deadlocks. Such an impasse can cripple even the most dynamic of companies, turning what should be a strategic collaboration into a stalemate. But fear not, for there are creative solutions designed to break these deadlocks and get your company back on track. In this article, we explore some of these deadlock-breaking mechanisms. We don't cover possible processes preceding the shareholder deadlock stage – such as referring matters to respective CEOs of shareholders for discussion before going to a vote at shareholder level – which could be used in conjunction with the suggestions below.

Agribusiness acquisitions: What to know before you buy

While each business acquisition is unique, acquiring an agri-business raises some specific, important issues. These should always be considered and dealt with to some extent in the relevant sale agreement/s. In this alert, we briefly explore five of these issues. The structure of the deal will influence the wording of the relevant clauses but not the principles involved.

Board committees 101

Section 72 of the Companies Act 71 of 2008 (Companies Act) empowers the appointment and operation of board committees (committees), which can play a key role in the operations of the board of directors. For example, specialist knowledge or extended time is required to deal with an important issue such as refinancing, building a new plant, or an office move.

Part Two: Should I ask my lawyer or should I just ChatGPT it?

In Part One, we explored ChatGPT's capabilities in the legal field, and we saw both its impressive potential and significant limitations. Now, in Part Two, we delve deeper into the potential consequences for legal professionals relying solely on AI tools, such as ChatGPT, by considering a real-life scenario that sheds light on the importance of accuracy, ethics and the indispensable role of human judgement.

All news by Muzammil Ahmed →