The benefits and pitfalls of constituting a voluntary audit committee

When it comes to audit committees, a private company is not required to appoint an audit committee unless it is required to do so by its memorandum of incorporation (MOI). Nevertheless, a private company that is not legally required to appoint an audit committee may still voluntarily constitute one. Deciding whether to voluntarily appoint an audit committee requires careful consideration of a number of factors, the most important being the particular business, structure and needs of the company or company group in question. Additionally, weighing up the pros and cons may provide important insights into whether or not voluntarily appointing an audit committee is advantageous to a business.

The role of mergers and acquisitions in the pharmaceutical industry

Corporate & Commercial Director Roxanna Valayathum and Candidate Attorney Carmin Jansen van Vuuren, featured in a DealMakers Magazine article titled "The role of mergers and acquisitions in the pharmaceutical industry".

The pharmaceutical industry is dynamic – not just in current times but also historically. It is not surprising that the industry is one of the frontrunners in the market space when it comes to M&A activity, the number of deals, deal value and innovative deal structuring. In this article we will take a closer look at the role of M&A in the pharmaceutical industry, why M&A is central to such industry and what the driving force is behind it. We will also briefly consider M&A transactions from a South African perspective.

Is the SPAC back?

The use of SPACs, or special purpose acquisition companies, seems to be back. SPACs are shell companies with no existing business operations, that are established as an investment vehicle for the purpose of raising capital to acquire Viable Assets in pursuit of a listing on the Main Board or the Alternative Exchange (AltX).
