Surfing the waves of contractual interpretation

The case of Yacht Hardware CC v Zenith International Proprietary Limited JDR 3693 (WCC) is a recent appeal heard by the Western Cape High Court involving the interpretation of indemnity clauses in a contract of sale between Yacht Hardware CC t/a Harken South Africa (plaintiff), a manufacturer and distributor of marine products, and Zenith International Proprietary Limited (defendant). For ease of reference the parties in this appeal were referred to as in the court of first instance.

Ongoing compliance checklist for private companies

Registering a new private company, or acquiring an existing one, is usually accompanied by a level of excitement for the new business venture being pursued. To ensure that it develops and operates without a technical glitch, it is useful to consider the ongoing compliance requirements under the Companies Act 71 of 2008 (Companies Act) for private companies, which are set out below.

Taking flight: Recent amendments to the Civil Aviation Act

On 6 April 2022, President Cyril Ramaphosa assented to the Civil Aviation Amendment Act 22 of 2021 (Amendment Act). Once its commencement date is proclaimed, the Amendment Act will amend and expand on the provisions of the Civil Aviation Act 13 of 2009 (Civil Aviation Act) in relation to issues of aviation safety and security, enhanced environmental protection and regulatory compliance (amongst other things).

Did you know: Companies Act edition

Even the best lawyers and business people don't know everything about the law, which sometimes leads to surprises! Below, we set out some commonly overlooked provisions of the Companies Act, 71 of 2008 (Companies Act) which may apply to your business and some other random facts that we hope you find interesting reading during these cold winter days.

Common issues to consider when purchasing a business: assets and price calculation

The sale and purchase of a business is usually more complex and comprehensive to implement than a sale and transfer of the shares in the company running the business and can take longer to complete. Other than certain tax considerations (which are not dealt with in this alert), there are myriad commercial reasons why a purchaser may wish to pursue a business acquisition rather than a share acquisition, including that the purchaser can select which assets it wishes to buy and that the purchaser need not assume any of the seller's liabilities (unless expressly agreed otherwise and excluding employee related liabilities).
