The evaluation of a potential merger or acquisition typically necessitates the sharing of confidential information, usually via a formal due diligence investigation. Naturally, the due diligence investigation is usually undertaken at the outset of the process to allow the potential bidder (or both parties, as applicable) to assess the suitability of the transaction and to inform negotiations.

Competition Commission intensifies its monitoring of essential foods and fresh produce: What you need to know

The latest edition of the Competition Commission's (Commission) Essential Food Price Monitoring Report (EFPMR) analyses price movements of sunflower oil, bread, maize meal and certain fruits and vegetables and contains a deep dive probe into the poultry value chain. The Commission remains concerned about food inflation and whether prices are justified by increasing costs.

Pre-closing merger notifications to the Egyptian Competition Authority are now mandatory

Transactions constituting "economic concentrations" now require pre-closing clearance in Egypt. Egypt has substantially altered its merger control regime by amending the Protection of Competition and Prohibition of Monopolistic Practices Law 3 of 2005 (Competition Law) on 30 December 2022.
